Harrisburg, Ill., Sept. 25.—With the exception of a few tracts of land, the right of way has been bought by the New York Central Railroad between this city and Marion, Ill., and the first section of the line of the Big Four Railroad from this city to that place. The price paid to landholders averaged $500 per acre, and the total payment came to $100,000. The parties together with an agreement signed by the purchasers, to build a steam railroad, or else the deeds will be given to the railroads.

The two railroads traverses one of the richest and most extensive coal fields in the State of Illinois, most of which is controlled by the New York Central Interstate.
